

History Begins at Home

The story of the RHSV neighbourhood

This exhibition attempts to illustrate the history of the area around the RHSV building in A'Beckett Street using materials drawn from the collections of the Royal Historical Society of Victoria.

Themes in the display include:

Our Building – The former Army Medical Drill Hall
The Queen Victoria Market
The Old Melbourne Cemetery
The Local Churches
The Old Treasury Buildings
The Old Government Offices
Flagstaff Hill and Gardens
A Centre of Communication
A Local Industry – Printing
The Queens Theatre Royal
Frederick McCubbin – The Artist from King Street

The Woodbury photographs of Melbourne 1855
The Noone Photographs of Melbourne 1869

When next visiting Melbourne call into the RHSV to explore through this interesting and informative exhibition of this not so well known area of Melbourne as well as seeing the range of material held in our collection.

The exhibition is open during office hours
Monday – Friday from 10 am – 4 pm

Royal Historical Society of Victoria
239 A'Beckett Street
Melbourne